THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 21. 1739.

110 1378.

Yesterday arriv'd a Mail from Flanders and another from France.

Petersburgh, Nov. 7. N. S.

Ship is arriv'd here from Rostock with the Equipage and some of the Domesticks of the Marquis de la Chetardie, who is appointed Ambassador from the King of France to this Court. Though the Swedes continue to augment their Troops in Poland, this Court hath sent Orders to its Minister at Stockholm to make several Proposals there, which are judged to be for the Interest of Sweden, if that Power is disposed to continue its Amity with Russia. As soon as the Grand Signior's Ratification of the late Treaty of Peace arrives, the Seraskier of Ochakow, the Bashaw of Percep, and the other Turkish Prisoners that are here, as also the Bashaw of Choczim, who was carried Prisoner into the Ukraine, will be all set at Liberty. Lieutenant General Keith, who went to France to be cured of the Wound which he receiv'd at the Siege of Ochakow, is shortly expected back in this Country.

Zamiatk in Podolia, Nov. 1. N. S. The Russian Army having repaid the Neister, is now returning in three Columns into the Ukraine. A great Number of Moldavians and Wallachians of the Greek Church are also passing that River with their Cattle and best Effects, in order to go and settle in the Territories of Russia. Lieutenant General Lewendahl will evacuate Choczim as soon as he hears that the Peace between the Czarina and the Grand Signior is settled. The Velt Marshal de Munich has receiv'd Letters from General Lacey, with Advice that he has return'd with his Troops into the Lines of the Ukraine, so that the War is now at an End between Russia and the Porte. There is News also from Alsoph, that they are preparing to demolish the Fortifications of that Place.

Vienna, Nov. 18. N. S. An Express from the Marquis de Villeneuve has brought the Grand Signior's solemn Ratification of the late Treaty of Peace, and most of the Prisoners on both Sides are set at Liberty. This confirm'd, that the Great Duke of Tuscany uses Interest for the Count de Nuperg; for he actually deliver'd a Memorial to the Emperor in the said General's Vindication, which being in French, and the Emperor expressing his Desire of its being drawn up in the Language usual for Pieces of that Nature, the Memorial was afterwards presented to him in the German Language; upon which the Emperor declared he would decide the Count de Nuperg's Affairs according to the Rules of Justice and Equity. Moreover the Baron de Jarheim, who is the Count's Brother-in-law, and a Member of the Aulic Council, by the Recommendation of the Great Duke of Tuscany, obtained Leave to go to Hungary to visit him.

Expresses have been sent within these three Days to Paris, London and Lisbon, which, 'tis said, carry the Emperor's Resolution to observe an exact Neutrality during the War between Great Britain and Spain, in case that no other Power interfere in it, and so long as his hereditary Countries remain unmolested: But as 'tis foreseen some Troubles may happen in Italy about next Spring, it hath been resolv'd in Council to establish Magazines in the Duchies of Milan and Mantua: And the Great Duke of Tuscany, having, as 'tis said, receiv'd Advice from Florence, that the Spaniards have for some time past considerably reinforced the Garrisons of the State Del Princi, situate upon the Frontiers of Tuscany. The Court has therefore determin'd to send Recruits into Italy, to complete the Imperial Regiments in that Country. 'Tis very much doubted whether the Count de Bartenheim, Secretary of State, will be sent to London, as it was reported, because of the Necessity of his Presence with the Emperor at this juncture; but 'tis likely, that the Emperor will soon appoint some other Nobleman to go to the British Court with the Character of his Ambassador Extraordinary.

Vienna, Nov. 14. N. S. The Republick, which considerably augmented its Troops in Dalmatia when the Emperor and Russia entered into War with the Turks, has resolv'd to recal Part of those Forces into Terra Firma; which Precaution they think the more necessary in the present juncture, because of some Alterations they foresee will speedily happen in Italy. According to private Letters from Constantinople, the Grand Signior held a Divan there about the End of last Month, in which it was debated whether it was expedient for his Highness to ratify the Articles of Peace sign'd with the Emperor. Several Bashaws and great Officers of the Seraglio, who for their own Interest wish'd for the Continuance of the War, said, that the Grand Visier might have improved the Situation of his Army before Belgrade to better Advantage, and that he committed a capital Error by neglecting to send his Troops over the Save. The Kaimachan, the Kisser-Aga, and the other Friends of that Prime Minister, said all they could in his Defence, and alledged in particular, that if the Grand Visier had not put an End to the War by a Negotiation, they would perhaps have been oblig'd to defer the Siege of Belgrade to the next Campaign. Those who found fault with the Peace, and sought Occasion to censure that Minister's Conduct, represented, that the Advantage of the Restoration of Belgrade was very much diminished by the Conditions granted to the Imperialists in the Article of the Demolition of the Works of that City and its Citadel. The Musti and the Adherents of the Grand Visier overthrew every thing that had been urged against his Conduct, so that it was determin'd that the Grand Signior should ratify the Treaty, and that he should next Year send an Ambassador to his Imperial Majesty. The Count de Bonneval was so ill that Day, that he was not present at this Divan.

Paris, Nov. 23. N. S. Two Days ago the King went to Italy, and din'd with the Cardinal de Fleury, after which he return'd in the Evening to Chokly, and set out Yesterday for Versailles. The 23d at Night, as the Pastor of St. Benedict's Church was returning to his Chamber, he perceiv'd a Fellow lurking under his Bed, upon which he immediately went out, shut the Door upon him, and call'd the Watch, who came and seiz'd him and found a Pak of Pistols in his Pockets. The Conversation between the Emperor and the Courts of Poland and Saxony is regulated and rais'd.

Hannover, Nov. 13. N. S. The 30th ult. O. S. being the King's Birth day, there was a great Assembly at Court; the Marital made a magnificent Entertainment for the Ministers of State, the Generals and other Officers of the first Rank, and in the Evening there was a Concert of Musick, to which the Ladies were also invited. Last Saturday the Councils of Platen was brought to Bed of a Son. Yesterday there was an Assembly of the States, when M. de Wunzenheim, Captain of the Castle, was, by 112 Voices, chose a Director of the Treasury, in the Room of the late M. de Hardenberg. A Woman that keeps a publick House in the Neighbourhood of Brunswick, has been taken up for Harboring Robbers, 7 dead Bodies having been found in her House that were murder'd. Upon Advice that a War has been declared in Great Britain against Spain, the Report of the Match of our Troops towards Holland is renew'd. As the States of this Electorate are to assemble again next Week, we shall know at their Separation whether, or how far our Troops are to be augmented.

A particular Letter from Paris says, that the King is so pleas'd with the Language which the Pope's Nuncio Paulucci-Mellini lately gave to the Marquis de Mirepoix his Ambassador at Vienna, that he has order'd the Cardinal de Fleury to express his Resentment in very serious Terms to the Nuncio at Paris; and that this Affair, tho' scarce regarded at first, begins to make a great Noise, but they hope it will be settled by the Death of the Pope, who, according to so Reports which set out on the Night from Rome, relap'd that Day, and was so ill when he left that City, that several Wagers were laid that he would not live till December.

They write from Madrid, That the Spanish Court apprehending that the English will begin to stir in America by the Attack of Porto Rico, has sent the necessary Orders to put the Island in a good State of Defence; and that the Gallies will be us'd at Porto Bello, which is the last Port of New Spain.

They write from Leghorn, That the Baron de Neuhoff, who is still at Portolongoni, is shortly to set out for Naples, where he hopes to be rewarded for the Pains he has taken in the Affairs of Corsica.

They write from Rome, that the Duke de St. Aignan, the French Ambassador, entertain'd the Pretender and his two Sons at Dinner on the fifth Instant, N. S. at Frascati, and communic'd some Advice to him which he had just receiv'd from his Court.

From Genoa, That the Hills are cover'd with Snow, as in the midst of Winter; and that the excessive cold Weather has occasion'd mortal Distempers.

Extract of a Letter from Jamaica, dated the 31st of August.

On the 5th Inst. the Shoreham Man of War, Capt. Bosawen, arriv'd here from England, with Orders for making Reprizals on the Spaniards, which put us all in a Flurry. Commodore Brown put to Sea with five Men of War the 14th, but on what Expedition we know not, tho' the Windsor Man of War fails to-morrow to reinforce him. Several Privateers are fail'd (one a Brigantine with 160 brave Men), and more are fitting out. Our rebellious Negroes are all subdu'd, and our Governor, Edward Trelawny, Esq. is putting the Island in the best Posture of Defence. He is a public Blessing.

Letters from Jamaica, dated the 22d of September say, That they had received no News of Commodore Brown's Squadron since his sailing; that Capt. Stapleton, in the Sheerness Man of War, had made a Cruise on the Coast of Carthage, but had pick'd up only a Spanish Pleasure Boat with a Don in it. That a Bark which arriv'd from Carthage to press the sending away Provisions for the Gallies, which some Merchants at Jamaica had contracted to do, was seiz'd. That the Drake Sloop of War, Capt. Mallet, had brought in a Spanish Sloop with Sugar and Tobacco from St. Jago de Cuba for Porto Bell. That the Treasure was arriv'd at Panama, but the Gallies had unloaded, and were going to unrig at Carthage. — Mr. Dennis, chief of the South Sea Company's Factors at Porto Bello, was dead.

Admiral Vernon's Squadron was not arriv'd at Jamaica the 24th of September. He fail'd from Madeira the 29th of August.

Letters from Cadiz by Yesterday's Mail advise, that a Privateer from thence had taken, and was bringing in a Vessel with Provisions, bound from Cork to Gibraltar.

We were in hopes, from several Circumstances, that the Spaniards had taken but one Ship bound for Barbados; but, upon a further Inquiry, we find the Advice mentions the Captain of the Prize not being come on Shore, whereas Capt. Rhymes of the Dolphin had been ashore so long as to be got from thence to Bayonne, so that there is little Room to doubt but the Enfield, Capt. Smith, had also fallen into their Hands.

The great Trade which he had in Foreign Books, will be carried on in the same Shop by his only Son of the same Name, who was brought up by his Father in the Business, and is reckon'd to be very well qualify'd for it.
